I'm not a robot

It must be terrible to discover that your father has another family and he has been denying your existence for years. This is what Lucas Scott has to deal with on the TV show "One Tree Hill," which showcases Lucas's emotions as he tries to create his own identity. If you have already watched episodes of "One Tree Hill," these quotes from Lucas can help you better understand his character. "Many people die with music still in them. Why is that so? Too often it's because they are always getting ready to live. Before they know it, time's run out." "But I can't do it. And even worse, I don't know why I can't do it. You know, it's like, no matter how confusing or screwed up life got, the game always made sense. It was mine, you know. And in a lot of ways, it's who I am. But I can't be that person in their gym or in their uniforms or ... in their world." "Ever wonder how long it takes to change your life? What measure of time is enough to be life-altering? Is it four years, like high school? One year? An eight-week walking tour? Can your life change in a month or a week or a single day? We're always in a hurry to grow up, to go places, to get ahead ... but when you're young, one hour can change everything." "Katherine Anne Porter once said: There seems to be a kind of order in the universe ... in the movement of the stars and the turning of the Earth and the changing of the seasons. But human life is almost pure chaos. Everyone takes his stance, asserts his own right and feelings, mistaking the motives of others and his own." "Most of our life is a series of images. They pass us by like towns on the highway. But sometimes, a moment stuns us as it happens. And we know that this instant is more than a fleeting image. We know that this moment ... every part of it ... will live on forever." "Sometimes, it's easy to feel like you're the only one in the world who's struggling, who's frustrated, or unsatisfied or barely getting by. That feeling is a lie." "… we all need a little help sometimes. Someone to help us hear the music in the world, to remind us that it won't always be this way. That someone is out there. And that someone will find you." "What are you, Keith? An angel? A bad dream?" "Did you ever look at a picture of yourself and see a stranger in the background? It makes you wonder how many people have pictures of you." "I was there but not to kill you. I saved your life, but I should have let you burn." "They're afraid people might find out who they are before they find it out themselves." "So I'm confused. You want to be anonymous, and you let the world watch you on a web cam." Last night's episode of "One Tree Hill" featured the return of former star Lucas Scott. Chad Michael Murrary took on the role of Lucas Scott on the hit show "One Tree Hill" on September 23, 2003, and the show has blossomed to a phenomena ever since. When Lucas and his wife Peyton (Hilary Burton from "White Collar") left the show at the end of season 6, it was close to say that I was devastated. The show, now in it's final season, has had many turbulent themes throughout the years on air. Love triangles, school shootings, stalkings, teenage marriage and pregnancy, childhood emancipation, and the glory of dreams coming true. Now the show has begun it's most difficult story line of series finale and the return of a beloved character was highly anticipated. Sorry for me, last night's premiere did not live up to the hype. If you're behind on the show, missed a couple of episodes or keep forgetting the days of the week since "No-School Monday" messed with your brain, stop reading here. Nathan (James Lafferty) is kidnapped by the crazy European basketball crazies and the tension in the Scott mansion is running high. I had the misconception that Lucas was coming back from who-knows-where to stay with the Scotts, to keep their minds busy as the police search for her missing husband. Sadly, I was wrong because it looks like this one reappearance may be Murray's last. Seeing as how Haley asked him to take their kids, Jamie and Lydia, to stay with him and his wife Peyton so Haley doesn't "loose it in front of them," as Haley (Bethany Joy Galeotti) put it. Everything turned crazy last night. Brooke (Sophia Bush from "John Tucker Must Die") went to jail, but not because she did a no-no. She went to confront her attacker from season 5, who also killed Quentin Fields, who was up for parole. Be sure to find out what's going on with Nathan, Haley, and Brooke, who are the remaining 3 main stars of the show, at 7 p.m on Wednesdays on the CW. One Tree Hill is a TV series that has touched the hearts of millions of viewers worldwide. The show is known for its powerful and thought-provoking quotes. Here are some of the most heartfelt quotes from the show that will make you reflect on life and love: "Always and forever" – Lucas Scott "Sometimes people put up walls, not to keep others out, but to see who cares enough to break them down." – Brooke Davis "At this moment, there are 6,470,818,671 people in the world. Some are running scared. Some are coming home. Some tell lies to make it through the day. Others are just not facing the truth. Some are evil men, at war with good. And some are good, struggling with evil. Six billion people in the world, six billion souls. And sometimes, all you need is one." – Lucas Scott "You have to be willing to risk it all if you really want to love someone." – Lucas Scott "It's not the right person that makes us whole, it's the right love." – Haley James Scott "The good thing about being Brooke Davis is that I can wear a trash bag to school and still look awesome. The bad thing about being Brooke Davis is that everyone sees it." – Brooke Davis These quotes from One Tree Hill capture the essence of human emotions and the complexities of life. They remind us to cherish our relationships and to never give up on love and happiness. Whether you're a fan of the show or not, these quotes will surely touch your heart. One Tree Hill's Lucas Scott, portrayed by Chad Michael Murray, is known for his wise and thought-provoking quotes. Throughout the series, he shares his wisdom and life lessons with the audience, leaving us inspired and motivated. Here are some of Lucas Scott's most memorable quotes that can teach us valuable lessons about life. Strong determination and perseverance are key to achieving success in life. Lucas once said, "It's not about how hard you hit. It's about how hard you can get hit and keep moving forward." This quote reminds us that setbacks are inevitable, but it is our ability to keep pushing forward that defines our character and determines our success. In life, we often face difficult decisions and have to choose between what is right and what is easy. Lucas reminds us to always choose what is right, even if it is the harder path. "Sometimes the right path is not the easiest one." This quote reminds us that making the right choices can be challenging, but in the long run, it will lead us to a better and more fulfilling life. It's easy to dwell on the past and let it define us, but Lucas teaches us the importance of letting go and moving on. "Every song ends, but is that any reason not to enjoy the music?" This quote reminds us to embrace the present moment and find joy in the journey, rather than constantly dwelling on what has already happened or what might happen in the future. Love is a complex and often unpredictable aspect of life. Lucas's wisdom on love teaches us valuable lessons. "Love is not love until you give it away." This quote reminds us that love is not something to hoard or keep to ourselves, but rather something to be shared and given freely. It is through giving love that we truly experience its power and impact on our lives. Lastly, Lucas reminds us to never give up on our dreams and passions. "Sometimes life has a way of moving you past wants and hopes." This quote reminds us that sometimes life takes unexpected turns and we may have to let go of certain desires, but it is important to stay true to ourselves and keep pursuing what truly matters to us. Lucas Scott's wisdom and life lessons are a constant reminder that life is full of ups and downs, but it is how we navigate through them that defines our character and shapes our destiny. His quotes inspire us to be resilient, make the right choices, embrace the present, give love freely, and pursue our dreams with unwavering determination. Lucas Scott's journey in One Tree Hill is marked by personal growth and transformation. Through his experiences, he learns valuable life lessons that shape him into a stronger and wiser individual. Here are some quotes that capture Lucas Scott's growth and transformation: "It's not about what happens, it's about how we deal with it." This quote highlights Lucas's realization that it's not the events themselves that define us, but rather our response to them. It shows his growth in understanding the importance of resilience and taking responsibility for one's actions. "You know, sometimes people play hard to get because they need to know the other person's feelings are real." This quote showcases Lucas's growth in empathy and understanding. He develops the ability to see beyond surface-level interactions and starts to consider the deeper emotions and motivations behind people's actions. "It's funny how a song can take you back to a specific time and place." This quote reflects Lucas's growth in self-awareness and introspection. He begins to find solace and understanding in music, using it as a means to reflect on his own experiences and process his emotions. "Sometimes people leave you halfway through the story." This quote demonstrates Lucas's growth in accepting loss and moving on. He learns to come to terms with the fact that not all relationships are meant to last, and that sometimes it's necessary to let go in order to find true happiness. "The most important thing is not letting fear dictate your choices." This quote illustrates Lucas's growth in courage and self-confidence. He realizes that fear can hold us back from pursuing our dreams and taking risks, and he learns to overcome his own fears in order to seize opportunities for personal and professional growth. These quotes encapsulate Lucas Scott's growth and transformation throughout One Tree Hill. They serve as reminders of the valuable lessons he learned and the person he became as a result of his experiences. Lucas's journey is a testament to the power of self-reflection, resilience, and personal growth. "Basketball is more than just a game. It's a journey that brings out the best version of yourself." Lucas Scott might have been the broodiest guy on One Tree Hill, but he was also one of the most profound. Anyone that watched OTH has had a Lucas Scott quote as one of their Facebook statuses at one point or another in their lives. The CW/GIPHY 1. "Do not let your fire go out, sparked by irreplaceable spark. And the hopeless swamps of the not quite, the not yet, and the not at all. Do not let the hero in your soul perish. And lonely frustration for the life you deserved but never been able to reach. The world you desire can be won. It exists. It is real. It is possible. And it is yours." 2. "Happiness comes in many forms – in the company of good friends, in the feeling you get when you make someone else's dream come true, or in the promise of hope renewed. It's okay to let yourself be happy because you never know how fleeting that happiness might be." 3. "There comes a time when every life goes off course. In this desperate moment, you must choose your direction. Will you fight to stay on the path, while others tell you who you are? Or will you label yourself? Will you be honored by your choice? Or will you embrace your new path? Each morning, you choose to move forward, or to simply give up." The CW/GIPHY 4. "Do you ever look at a picture of yourself, and see a stranger in the background? Makes you wonder, how many strangers have pictures of you? How many moments of other peoples' lives have we been in? Were we a part of someone's life when their dreams came true? Or were we there when their dreams died? Did we keep trying to get in, as is if we were somehow destined to be there? Or did the shot take us by surprise? Just think. You could be a big part of someone else's life and not know it." 5. "Sometimes, it's easy to feel like you're the only one in the world who's struggling, who's frustrated, or unsatisfied, or barely getting by. That feeling is a lie. And if you just hold on, just find the courage to face it all for another day, someone or something will find you and make it all okay, because we all need a little help sometimes, someone to help us hear the music in the world, to remind us that it won't always be this way. That someone is out there, and that someone will find you." 6. "Passion, unattended, is a flame that burns to its own destruction." The CW/GIPHY 7. "…we all need a little help sometimes. Someone to help us hear the music in the world, to remind us that it won't always be this way. That someone is out there. And that someone will find you." 8. "If you could go back and change just one thing about your life, would you? And if you did, would that change make your life better? Or would that change ultimately break your heart? Or break the heart of another? Would you choose an entirely different path? Or would you change just one thing? Just one moment. One moment that you always wanted back." 9. "Have you ever wondered what marks our time here? If one life can really make an impact on the world? Or if the choices we make matter? I believe they do. And I believe that one man can change many lives… for better or worse!" 10. "Peyton! It's you. When all my dreams come true, the one I want next to me. It's you. It's you Peyton." The CW/GIPHY 11. "It was a comet. The boy saw the comet and he felt as though his life had meaning. And when it went away, he waited his entire life for it to come back to him. It was more than just a comet because of what it brought to his life: direction, beauty, meaning. There are many who couldn't understand, and sometimes he walked among them. But even in his darkest hours, he knew in his heart that someday it would return to him, and his world would be whole again… And his belief in God and love and art would be re-awakened in his heart. The boy saw the comet and suddenly his life had meaning." 12. " I've loved you since the first time I saw you. And this ring, and these words, are simply a way to show the rest of the world what's been in my heart for as long as I've known you. I love you, Peyton Elizabeth Sawyer. I always have and I always will." 13. "Does this darkness have a name? This cruelty, this hatred. How did it find us? Did it steal into our lives or did we seek it out and embrace it? What happened to us? That we now send our children out into the world like we send young men to war, hoping for their safe return but knowing that some will be lost along the way. When did we lose our way? Consumed by the shadows, swallowed whole by the darkness. Does this darkness have a name? Is it your name?" 14. You ever wake up from a really good dream, and try to get back to sleep? Or you got the flu, and you promise yourself you will appreciate normal so much more, if you can just get back to it? That's the way I feel. I just want things to go back to the way they were." It's okay to let yourself be happy because you never know how fleeting that happiness might be." — Lucas Scott[src] Lucas Eugene Scott is the central protagonist of the first six seasons of One Tree Hill, portrayed by Chad Michael Murray. The son of Karen Roe and Dan Scott, Lucas was never acknowledged by his father and was raised by his mother and his paternal uncle, Keith Scott. Although given various opportunities, Lucas never wanted to mend his relationship with Dan, constantly pushing him away throughout the series, especially after he learned Dan was the one who killed Keith during the school shooting. Lucas always had a passion for basketball and at the beginning of the series used to play at the River Court with his friends Skills Taylor, Fergie Thompson, and Junk Moretti, with Mouth McFadden usually giving commentary. At the start of his junior year, however, Lucas was recruited by coach Whitey Durham to play for the Tree Hill Ravens, the basketball team of his high school captained by Dan's other son, his estranged half-brother Nathan Scott, with whom he initially had a rivalry relationship. However, after his best friend, Haley James, fell for Nathan, the two grew closer and eventually became companions and good friends until they started to actually consider each other brothers. Over the course of first four seasons, Lucas was also involved in a complicated love triangle with best friends Brooke Davis and Peyton Sawyer, who eventually turned out to be his one true love and later became his wife and the mother of his child, a daughter whom the two called Sawyer. After his dream of becoming a professional basketball player was crushed by the discovery of suffering from a heart disease, Lucas struggled to understand which new path to follow in his life. This all took a turn when, while approaching graduation, he realized he wanted to achieve another dream of his, namely becoming a writer. As a result, he started writing his first novel titled An Unkindness of Ravens, which was a a sort of recollection of his last two years of high school, with particular focus on his love story with Peyton. He had the book published during his college course and, after it turned out to be a major success, Lucas became a famous author. However, Lucas then experienced two years of creative block, but when Peyton moved back to Tree Hill from Los Angeles and motivated him not to give up, he finally had his inspiration back and started writing his second novel, The Comet, which turned out to be again focused on his everlasting love for Peyton. However, after its publication, the book was not met with the same success as the first one. Following Sawyer's birth, Lucas and Peyton moved away from Tree Hill at the end of the sixth season. After his departure, it was revealed Lucas had started writing his third novel. Background[] Lucas Eugene Scott was born on May 20. He was the only son of Karen Roe and the oldest son of Dan Scott. Dan was absent for all his life, so he formed a close bond with his father's brother, Keith Scott, who was a father figure to him. For example, at the age of six, Keith took Lucas on his first camping trip. As they did, Lucas hooked his thumb which started bleeding. Crying, Lucas was soon cheered up as his uncle got out his own pocket knife and stabbed his thumb. He pressed his thumb against Lucas' thumb and told him that now they are blood brothers, making Lucas stop crying. Lucas' best birthday memory was when he was 12. He was given tickets to see a Duke basketball game for himself, Karen and Keith. They traveled there together and made a weekend of it. It was one of his favorite memories because it was the first time they had been like a proper family. Later in his life, Lucas mentions he would give anything to have that birthday back. Lucas played football during his childhood and was featured in the local newspaper as his team's MVP. Lucas only found out that Dan was his father after playing on a little league basketball team his half-brother Nathan attended as well, where he was teased for being Dan Scott's bastard son. After returning home, Lucas asked his mother if it was true, and she denied it. Afterwards, however, Lucas heard her crying in her room. He then decided to quit the team so he and his mother wouldn't have to see Dan's face. That is when he first met and saw his real father for the first time and met Nathan. Character arc[] Season 1[] Nathan challenges Lucas for the control of the River Court. ("Pilot") Lucas is a normal teenage boy living with his mother and helping his Uncle Keith in his garage and body shop. Although Lucas was raised as an only child by his single mother Karen, he had previously found out that he had a paternal half brother named Nathan, who was raised as an only child by their father Dan and Nathan's mother, Deb. The two mostly ignored each other: Lucas a loner and Nathan the popular jock, but the tension between them takes a turn and turns them into enemies when Lucas is offered a spot on the Tree Hill High varsity basketball team, where Nathan is the star player. Angry, Nathan challenges him to a game on the river court- if Lucas wins, he gets a spot on the team. Lucas does win, leaving Nathan determined to kick him off the team especially when Lucas takes over Nathan's position. Nathan finds a weak spot in Lucas - his best friend Haley. Needing tutoring, Nathan asks Haley for help and she agrees under two conditions - Lucas never finds out and he has to stop harassing him. Nathan agrees, but continues to harass Lucas in a more low-key manner. As the season progresses, the brothers eventually become friends. Lucas has always loved Nathan's girlfriend Peyton Sawyer, who initially is rude and wary of him but soon begins to let him in, especially after Nathan and Peyton break up. In a game of truth or dare, Peyton kisses Lucas when Brooke dares her to if she has feelings for him: after that, Lucas makes it clear with her how deeply he wants to be with her, but she rejects him. After attending a college party in which Peyton gets drugged, Brooke calls Lucas in help and he sees a deeper side of her. Soon after, he accepts to go on a date with her and, the same night, Peyton goes to his home to tell him she wants be with him, finding him and Brooke together and leaving heartbroken after she's understood what's happening. Lucas initially chooses to be with Brooke over Peyton as he is afraid Peyton will hurt him again, starting to date her. However, he and Peyton feelings for each other are too strong and eventually end up cheating on Brooke, becoming secret lovers behind her back, but planning on telling her as soon as possible in order to start an official relationship, because though Lucas does care about Brooke, he doesn't love her, but Peyton. Lucas and Peyton give into their feelings and kiss at the motel when they go find her dad. ("Crash Course in Polite Conversation") However, before they can do so Lucas is involved in a major car accident with his uncle Keith, who was drinking previously to driving. Lucas falls into a coma which lasts days, awaking with a broken shoulder. When he wakes up, he breaks up with Brooke, telling her he just wants to be friends. Then, when Brooke catches Lucas and Peyton kissing in her room on Peyton's webcam, she realizes that they were sneaking behind her back, deciding to end her friendship with Peyton, who also tearfully ends things with Lucas despite loving him out of guilt for betraying Brooke. Afterwards, Lucas, heartbroken, has a one night stand with Nicki, the ex-girlfriend of Jake Jagielski and the mother of his daughter Jenny. Peyton and Brooke soon find out and become even angrier with him. Meanwhile, a crying Brooke tells Lucas that she thinks she is pregnant. After going to a clinic, she tells him that she is, but later reveals that she was lying because Lucas cheated on her and she was still hurt by what he'd done. Eventually, when Coach Whitey needs to have eye surgery, Dan takes over as coach of the Ravens, pushing his two sons and the team to their limits. Lucas becomes extremely stressed along with the rest of the team. During a game, Nathan has a clear shot to score a basket but instead passes to Lucas, who is unable to throw and misses because of his shoulder injury from the car accident. Dan is frustrated and takes out his anger on the team, causing them all to bear the brunt of his abuse. In the season finale, Nathan and Haley marry. Lucas eventually grows to accept it. Lucas and Keith decide to leave Tree Hill for good. Season 2[] In season 2, Lucas and Keith return to Tree Hill after Dan has a heart attack. Lucas's relationship with his father Dan changes, as the heart attack has brought out a seemingly kinder side to Dan- or so Lucas thinks. Lucas tries to make up for his behavior with Peyton and Brooke. He also starts seeing a new girl named Anna Taggaro, but they break up amicably when Anna is confused about her sexuality. Meanwhile, he understands that Peyton is going through a hard time and offers her his help, but because of the strain previously put in their relationship she rejects him because she doesn't trust him anymore, leaving both of them heartbroken because they actually miss each other very much. Despite this, he still finds a way to help her to show her he does care about her: he calls Jake and asks him to come back to Tree Hill after he left at the end of the previous season, knowing that his presence would affect Peyton positively. Then, Lucas decides to avenge all of Dan's victims. He finds a stash of cash and an incriminating ledger in the attic at Dan's dealership and plans to expose Dan's illegal dealings, but ultimately fails as Dan has also incriminated Deb. Dan then reveals that the whole thing was a set-up to test Lucas's loyalty, which Lucas failed. As a result, he loses Dan's college fund for him (which Dan had been saving since Lucas was a baby) and even his heart medication. Nathan also ends his friendship with Lucas after discovering that Lucas had planned to bring Dan down and visited Haley behind his back in an attempt to patch up her and Nathan's marriage, as Haley has left to go on tour. Lucas and Peyton together on the beach. ("The Leavers Dance") Lucas does kiss Brooke in the season finale and confesses that he wants to be with her because he's suddenly developed some real feelings for her, but she still leaves for California to spend the summer with her parents because she remembers how unhealthy their relationship was. Ultimately, it is just Lucas and a broken-hearted Peyton (after Jake left again) for the summer and the last shot is of the two of them sharing a meaningful hug on the beach after their friendship has remained broken for basically the whole season. Season 3[] Lucas and Peyton on the Comet during their road trip to make her visit Ellie. ("Brave New World") In season 3, after having spent the whole summer together with Peyton, growing closer again with her and forming a great friendship by hanging out, sharing mutual secrets and intimate things, resulting in their bond becoming stronger than it has ever been, Lucas remains at odds with Dan, who accuses Lucas of starting the fire at the dealership that nearly killed him. Dan tries to strangle Lucas on the basketball court, but Peyton, having learned the truth from Lucas, tells Dan that Lucas actually saved him from the fire. Lucas also protects the true arsonist: Deb. Lucas and Nathan continue to argue over Nathan's treatment of the returned Haley and have a public fight after Lucas accuses Nathan of being just like Dan. Lucas struggles to pay for his heart medication and steals money from his mother, which Haley sees, forcing Lucas to tell her about his condition. He begins a non-exclusive fling with Brooke and uses Rachel Gatina to make her jealous, but a series of events leads Brooke to sleep with Chris Keller, tearing them apart. Even after that, the two don't give up on the idea of being together: in fact, when she shows the 82 letters she's written him during her vacation but did not send, telling him she wants to be with him, he decides to forgive her and the two agree to start a real relationship. Meanwhile, he and Nathan gradually make amends and he helps Peyton reconnecting with her birth mother Ellie. Then, Keith returns and he and Karen finally get together and become engaged. Keith also plans to adopt Lucas. Lucas and Peyton share a kiss during the school shooting after she confessed her love for him, feeling she won't make it because of being shot. ("With Tired Eyes, Tired Minds, Tired Souls, We Slept") Tragedy strikes when Lucas's former friend Jimmy Edwards brings a gun to school and fires it, accidentally hitting Peyton and causing a lockdown ("With Tired Eyes, Tired Minds, Tired Souls, We Slept"). Lucas rushes into school to save Peyton and then it happens the biggest moment between them during this season: thinking she won't make it, she tells him she loves him and then the two share a brief but meaningful kiss. After the shooting, Lucas is devastated by Jimmy and Keith's deaths and agrees with Peyton to pretend that what happened in the library meant nothing to not hurt Brooke. After seeing the effect of Keith's death on his mother, Lucas decides to finally tell Whitey, Nathan, and Karen about his heart condition and quits basketball. He goes on a university tour with his mother and realizes that he wants to become a writer. He is also Nathan's best man for his vow renewal to Haley, during which he and Brooke have yet another fight after she's learnt that he kissed Peyton during the school shooting: this, in turn, causes her to question whether between them is real love or not and their whole relationship, feeling that they've never had emotional connection enough to be a real couple even regardless of Peyton. The season ends with Lucas and Brooke's relationship destiny uncertain, despite having certainly reached its worst moment. Season 4[] Lucas and Peyton finally get together. ("Some You Give Away") Right after the vow renewal, Brooke definitely understands the relationship between her and Lucas doesn't work and breaks up with him, feeling that they have grown too far apart. Lucas does a little try to get Brooke back, but quickly stops his pursuit of her. Meanwhile, he saves Peyton from an Internet stalker "Psycho Derek" who pretends to be her brother but is really not. Lucas finds out the truth about Derek and saves Peyton from him. He also helps Karen, who was pregnant with Keith's baby, and plans on going to the University of North Carolina when he graduates so that he can be close to home in case she needs him. Dan also helps Karen with her pregnancy, wanting to make amends for Keith's death. After talking with Dan, Karen persuades Whitey to let Lucas play 15 minutes a game, so as not to let him miss out on something he loves. Brooke and Lucas go on one last date, but, after realizing they don't see their future next to each other, they understand it was a huge mistake, accepting their relationship had run its course and they're not meant to be, prompting Peyton to finally confess Lucas she's in love with him. Lucas then discovers that Nathan is planning to throw the State Championship game because of his debts. Lucas plans to prevent this and deliberately fails to take his heart medication in order to play better, but Nathan is inspired by learning that he is going to have a son and they win, with Lucas making the winning shot. During the celebration, Lucas finally realizes Peyton has always been the one for him and, after Brooke tells him she is fine with him and Peyton getting together as she's understood herself they are meant to be, goes tell her that it is her he wants next to him when all his dreams come true with his iconic "It's you" speech, then the two share a long-awaited kiss in the middle of the court. They finally become a couple at the after-party, but their happiness is short-lived when Haley gets hit by a car and Lucas tries to tell the paramedics what happened only to suffer a heart attack. As he is in the hospital, Lucas dreams that he is visited by Keith, who shows Lucas what life would have been like if he had been a lesser person. In the end, Lucas realizes that he has to go back to his life because he never told Peyton that he loves her. Lucas wakes up and begins a relationship with Peyton. After the failed attempt of prom in Tree Hill High, in which Ian Banks has returned and kidnapped Peyton and Brooke when she had come to say sorry to her and wanted Peyton to forgive her, the group goes on a rescue mission to save Mouth, who is stranded in Honey Grove. Peyton calls Lucas to "help her after her car broke down". ("All of a Sudden I Miss Everyone") They all then crash the local Prom, where he and Peyton make love for the first time. He then begins to investigate Keith's death, as the Keith in his dream suggested that Jimmy did not kill him, but he also starts getting closer to Dan, who tells Karen he wants a bigger part in Lucas's life. Lucas discovers the truth about Dan thanks to witness Abby Brown. He attacks Dan after walking in on him and Karen kissing and tells Karen that Dan killed Keith, but Dan convinces Karen that Lucas is delusional and needs help. Lucas then steals Deb's gun and confronts Dan in front of Karen, having set him up by sending him a message from "Abby". Karen collapses and Lucas fires a warning shot at Dan, telling him not to touch her. Karen is rushed to hospital with eclampsia and has an emergency c-section. Lucas was given a half-sister, who is named Lily Roe Scott when Karen regained consciousness. Later, Dan turns himself in for Keith's murder. Lucas graduates and gets, as a reward, his book (An Unkindness of Ravens) from his mother. That same day, he becomes an uncle with the birth of Nathan and Haley's son, James Lucas Scott, partly named after him. Lucas is named the godfather of James and announces that he will be assisting Whitey as Nathan's college basketball coach. Missing years[] Lucas with Whitey during one of college games as assistant coach. ("I Forgot to Remember to Forget") One year later, Lucas became the head coach of the Cobras, his college basketball team, and leads them to victory in the championships with Whitey. Whitey then tells him to go visit Peyton as he loves her. So he took the ring that Keith gave to Karen while proposing. He visited Peyton and asked her for dinner. She got there late due to work and had to go again. Lucas then said that they will go to the hotel room where they almost made love. Lucas sat in the room too long holding the ring in his hand but passed out. When he woke up he found Peyton sitting on the couch. He tried to find his ring but sees that Peyton has it. He went near Peyton and bent on his knee and proposed. Feeling it was too early, Peyton rejected his proposal. Lucas got frustrated and angry. The day after, Lucas woke up early and wrote a letter and went to the airport leaving Peyton. When he was at the ticket counter, a call from Lindsey Strauss came on his phone saying that they liked his novel and she wanted to edit it. Joyed, Lucas immediately took the next flight to New York. After editing his novel, Lucas called Peyton to come to the signup. Peyton came there but saw Lucas kiss Lindsey giving him a congratulation kiss and she left. Meanwhile, Lucas went to Brooke's house and told her that he proposed to Peyton but she rejected. They spent the night together together getting drunk. Lucas then tried to seduce Brooke and they kissed but Brooke left, knowing that he still loved Peyton and he was only drunk and heartbroken. About one year later, Lucas called Peyton telling her about an imminent book signing of him in LA, asking her to come and hoping to make up with her and rekindle their relationship. Peyton wemt to the event, but saw Lucas next to Lindsey who was congratulating and misunderstood the situation, thinking they were together, so she went away. After the book signing, having lost every hope to get back together with Peyton, Lucas decided to pursue a relationship with Lindsey. Season 5[] Lucas and Peyton share a kiss because they still love each other. ("In Da Club") In Season 5, four years after high school graduation, Lucas, now 22, suffers from writer's block and is under pressure from his editor/girlfriend Lindsey. He also tries to help Haley with her son, James Lucas Scott. When Peyton comes back home, she reveals to him that she did come to the signing, and then inspires him by repeating his quote: "Your art matters", prompting him to finally begin writing again. When he tells Peyton that the bartender she is flirting with at the Clothes Over Bros store opening is not good enough for her, it becomes obvious that, despite his relationship with Lindsey, he still loves Peyton. After remembering the night he proposed, he goes straight to her house, though she is not there, but Brooke, now well aware of the mutual feelings of the two, immediately calls him out about still being in love with her best friend. When Peyton begins to antagonize Lindsey, he goes to confront her, but things escalate into a verbal fight about their break up. A little bit later, after Peyton confesses her feelings and kisses him, he kisses her back, passionately, but later proposes to Lindsey overwhelmed by the situation and out of guilt, leading Peyton to tell him that she will bury her feelings so that he can be happy. He then wins his first game as the Ravens coach, although the female counterparts miss it because they were locked in the library. He soon has to go to Dan's parole and speak up in order to have him stay locked up. Lucas' hate for Dan was expressed through a matter of words which may have swayed the parole board, had parental half-brother, Nathan, not visited his father in jail. Later on, Lucas decides to have Nathan as his best man and then fuses his bachelor party with Lindsey's. He also gives Haley his new book: after reading it, she is shocked and tells him not to marry Lindsey. Lucas phones either Peyton, Brooke or Lindsey. ("What Comes After the Blues?") Lucas proceeds with the wedding, but Lindsey stops him after realizing, as did Haley, that his book, titled The Comet (an obvious reference to Peyton's car, which is the reason the two spoke for the first time) is about Peyton. She leaves him, and when he chases after her, he sees Lindsey's bags packed. After a confrontation, she leaves, saying, "People always leave, Luke. You know that" (A reference to one of Peyton's famous lines, also featured in his first book). Lucas flees to stay with his mother and Andy after the failed wedding for some time. Andy, despite being sure that Lucas is only in denial about Peyton, convinces him to go after Lindsey if getting back together with her is what he really wants, prompting him to go to her and tell her that one day she will come back to him. She comes back to Tree Hill for Jamie's fifth birthday, but tells Lucas that it is really over. He then helps Brooke cope with having baby Angie around. After Lindsey calls him to tell him she is seeing someone, he blows up, eventually getting suspended from coaching. He becomes heavily drunk and, in that condition, tells Peyton he hates her when she comes to help him. He later apologizes to her after being confronted by Haley. He tells Peyton that it was hard to let her go, hard to lose her and hard to see her again and that it remains difficult for him, making again apparent his everlasting love for her. Lindsey comes by to tell him his book is over and he can e-mail her the dedication. When he does, she reveals by phone that she still loves him. He then decides to go to Las Vegas and calls someone to get married. Brooke, Peyton, and Lindsey are all shown answering the phone, and the viewers are left hanging as whom he's decided to propose to. Season 6[] Lucas attends Quentin's funeral. ("Get Cape. Wear Cape. Fly") At the beginning of the first episode of the sixth season, the audience discovers that Peyton was obviously on the receiving end of Lucas's phone call. He waits to see if she actually arrives and moments later he finds her through the crowd, making her way towards him with bags packed. They share passionate kisses, Peyton glowing with happiness, and finally reunite and get back together, then board the plane on their way to Las Vegas. When they get there, they spend the night in a kinky Vegas hotel room. The next day, they go to the wedding chapel, but the tackiness of the place convinces them that this was the wrong decision. Instead, Peyton takes Lucas to the hotel room where he first proposed to her and they do it all over again, but this time Peyton says "yes" before he has even asked the question, finally becoming engaged. With the upcoming release of his new book, Lucas travels to New York to meet with Lindsey, and eventually tells her about his engagement to Peyton. He soon starts his book tour, but it fails quickly and is cancelled, so he returns home to Peyton. After the two resolve problems and fears of moving in together, Lucas is offered a movie deal by Julian Baker. Julian asks Lucas questions about Peyton before she gets there, and after she runs into Julian near the bathroom, it is revealed that he is her ex-boyfriend. For three weeks, Peyton fails to tell Lucas about Julian, and Lucas is angry when he discovers their past on his own. Although he is initially angry, they patch things up, and Peyton convinces Lucas to continue taking a part in the making of the film, despite his reluctance to work with Julian. The film is to be shot in Tree Hill, North Carolina. He also learns Peyton is expecting their first child. Lucas and Peyton are finally married. ("Forever and Almost Always") Though they initially have problems with Peyton's pregnancy, the fact that she may die when the baby is born, and a car accident resulting in Peyton being put on bedrest, the two are eventually married by the lake where they first met, and have their reception at Tric. Arriving back home Lucas goes to the garage to show Peyton the fixed Comet, when he comes back into the house he finds his new wife on the floor in a pool of blood. He rushes her to the hospital. They soon have a healthy daughter, Sawyer Brooke Scott, which Peyton names after her best friend Brooke (similar to the naming of James Lucas Scott), and they leave Tree Hill to start a new life as a family. Lucas and Peyton leave Tree Hill with Sawyer. ("Remember Me as a Time of Day") Season 7[] Lucas and Peyton are traveling the world; they are spending time with Karen and her husband Andy, and Lucas is writing a new book. In the season opener, Jamie celebrates his seventh birthday, his second without his uncle. Lucas sends Jamie the basketball which was given to him by Keith on Lucas's seventh birthday. In the card, Lucas says he and Peyton miss Jamie every day. In the later half of the season, Jamie asks Nathan about his relationship with Lucas. Nathan tells him that although they were not close when they were younger they became more like real brothers as they got older, saying "Having a brother is a lot like having a best friend, he helped make me the man I am today." [Physically absent.] Season 8[] In the first scene of the eight season, Haley can be seen writing a letter to Lucas. She writes him that she still is missing him and that the river court is missing him. However, it is said that Lucas stopped writing and hasn't kept in touch. Lucas and Peyton are unable to attend Brooke and Julian's wedding due to Sawyer being sick. [Physically absent.] Season 9[] Lucas returns to Tree Hill to help Haley. ("Last Known Surroundings") Lucas comes back to Tree Hill after an absence in all of Season 7 and Season 8. Lucas returns to comfort a distraught Haley, assuring her that Nathan will come home and will be fine and he even offers to stick around in Tree Hill for a while until Nathan is rescued. Lucas takes Lydia and Jamie to stay with him, Peyton and Sawyer until Nathan is found. After Dan is shot while rescuing Nathan from the warehouse, Lucas is notably the only living family member not present at the hospital, unable to make amends with Dan for all the wrong he has done. Relationships[] Relationships: Lucas Scott/Relationships Family: Lucas Scott/Family Family[] Peyton Sawyer Scott (wife); Lucas had loved Peyton since 8th grade, but never had the courage to go talk to her, until they finally spoke for the first time during Pilot, immediately bonding due to their similar personalities and common interests in literature, art and music. They soon fell in love, but because of Peyton's fear to let someone in due to her life's big losses the two got involved in a complicated love triangle with her best friend, Brooke Davis, who became interested in Lucas too, but after three seasons of back and forth and will they/won't they, the two were finally able to declare their love for each other and get together officially. After graduation and during the time jump between season four and five, she moved to LA to pursue a career as a record label producer, but they decided to go long distance, until they broke up when Lucas proposed to Peyton about one year after her departure, but she rejected him, thinking it was too early. Then, she came back to Tree Hill to fix things between them at the beginning of season five because she was still in love with him and, in the meantime, he never stopped loving her too, so they soon made amends, definitely got back together and finally married, even having a daughter whom they called Sawyer, at the end of season six. Sawyer Scott (daughter): Lucas and Peyton's daughter who is born at the end of season six after a risking pregnancy because Peyton happened to have a desease called placenta previa, which might have caused her death or the loss of the baby or both of them, but fortunately, after a hemorrhage, everything goes well and Peyton and Sawyer are fine. Karen and Lucas at Keith's funeral. ("Who Will Survive, and What Will Be Left of Them") Karen Roe (mother): Karen was a single parent after Dan Scott left her and decided to bring up his younger son Nathan. Karen had the support of Dan's brother Keith in bringing up Lucas. Lucas and Karen has a tight bond, she really does care about her son. Nathan Scott (paternal half-brother): Nathan and Lucas had a troubled start to their relationship thanks to their father Dan. They met in a little league basketball tournament and he found out Dan was his father and Nathan was his brother. After that, they were total strangers. When Lucas was offered an open varsity position in Raven's basketball. He was reluctant at first, but after talking with his mother, Keith and his friends he decided to join the team. Nathan started to date Luke's best friend Haley and as a result the two boys had to be in each others life and that lead to them becoming 'brothers' and best friends. Lily Roe Scott (maternal half-sister/paternal cousin): Lily was born after Keith died leaving Karen as a single mother once again, therefore Lucas helped look after her when she was a baby. Lucas tried to follow his role model Keith and do what Keith had done for him, help raise him. Karen and Lily left Tree Hill with Andy who said he loved both of them. Keith Scott (paternal uncle/father figure): Keith was more of a father to Lucas than his uncle. He was the parental substitute for Lucas in the place of Lucas' biological father, Dan. Lucas loved Keith a lot; Keith was going to adopt Lucas in season three but tragically, he was killed before they could make it official. Haley James Scott (sister-in-law/childhood best friend): Lucas and Haley were best friends since childhood. They were close long before she started dating Nathan. Originally, Lucas was against Nathan and Haley being a couple at first as he did not trust Nathan due to their checkered history. However, as he and Nathan's relationship grew stronger, he became much more supportive of the relationship between Nathan, his paternal half brother and Haley, his childhood best friend. Lucas became Nathan and Haley's guardian angel and also looks out for their son Jamie. James "Jamie" Scott (nephew/godson): Lucas promised Haley while she was pregnant that he would be just as good an Uncle to her son as Keith had been to him. When Luke was asked to be Jamie's godfather, he decided he would go to college with Nathan and Haley to help look after baby Jamie. They have an excellent relationship. He is the Uncle Keith to Jamie on the show. Jamie does look like his Uncle Lucas. Lydia Scott (nephew): Nathan and Haley's second child and Lucas' second nephew. Dan Scott (father): Dan and Lucas did not have a good relationship. Dan abandoned a pregnant Karen to go to college. When Lucas joined the Ravens basketball team, Dan made Luke's life a living hell and often put him down in order to prop up his other favourite son, Nathan. Although in season two, Lucas chooses to move out of Karen's house and into his fathers. You would presume with good intention but it is, however to try and bring him down. Romances[] Lucas has loved Peyton Sawyer since 8th grade although he begins to get to know her properly after she breaks up with his half brother, Nathan Scott. However, after he declares his love for her saying he wants everything with her, she tells him "why couldn't you just leave it alone", meaning she'd rather have a fling than a relationship, despite reciprocating his feelings, because of her fear to let someone really in due to her traumatic past. Peyton and Lucas kiss for the first time. ("Life in a Glass House") So, Lucas, heartbroken, gets to know better Peyton's best friend, Brooke Davis, who is interested in him too and whom he eventually starts dating and loses his virginity to, despite both realizing very soon they have nothing in common and are very bad for each other, bringing out the worst in one another. Then, after Peyton has told Lucas she feels the same way as him and wants to be with him too, the two end up passionately kissing at a motel as they can't deny their feelings for each other anymore, despite having tried very hard to resist them because of Brooke. They then become secret lovers, planning to tell Brooke about them as soon as possible, with Lucas even breaking up with her in order to be with Peyton, whom he knows is the one for him. However, seeing how hurt Brooke is because of the break-up with Lucas, Peyton decides to tearfully end things with him too despite loving him, putting her best friend first, but then Brooke ends her friendship with Peyton because she's found out about the cheating and is enraged with both of them, to the point she pretends to be pregnant to take revenge on Lucas, who instead openly says to her face he doesn't love her. Peyton and Lucas at the motel. ("Crash Course in Polite Conversation") Devasted by the mess he's done and seeing no point in staying because he's lost Peyton, he tells his mom he wants to leave Tree Hill, but soon returns after his biological father, Dan Scott, has had a heart attack. He wants to make amends with Brooke and Peyton and once again becomes friends with both of them. He begins seeing Anna Taggaro, a new girl, but they eventually break up because they are not in love with each other. Then, he suddenly develops some true feelings for Brooke despite their sketchy and messy past relationship, so he ends up kissing her and telling her he would be with her, but she leaves for California for the summer without answering him as she remembers how unhealthy their relationship was and she is also sure he's never really got over Peyton. Then, Lucas is seen together with Peyton, comforting her, on the beach, where they share a meaningful hug, telling her it seems like it's only them for the summer. Lucas then spends the whole summer together with Peyton, growing closer again with her and forming a great friendship by hanging out, sharing mutual secrets and intimate things, resulting in their bond becoming stronger than it has ever been. At the beginning of senior year, he becomes set on getting Brooke back: the two agree to have a non-exclusive fling, but a series of events drives Brooke so far as to sleep with Chris Keller, leaving Lucas furious at her. However, when Brooke shows Lucas the 82 letters she's written him during the summer, telling him she wants to be with him, he decides to forgive her, then the two agree to start a real relationship. Then, when Jimmy Edwards takes a group of students, including his best friend Haley, as hostages in the school and accidentally shoots Peyton in the leg, Lucas rushes into the building to save Peyton, discovering her, bleeding, in the library: he takes care of her and the whole situation leads her telling him that because she's lost a lot of blood and thinks she wouldn't make it, she wants him to know she loves him. The two then share a brief but meaningful kiss while Lucas promises to save her at all costs and fortunately he succeeds. After Peyton recovered, she and Lucas agree to pretend that what happened between them meant nothing and it was only because of the situation while he reaffirms his commitment to Brooke not to hurt her again. In the meantime, he and Brooke have started to grow apart again because they can't really understand each other, in particular Brooke can't understand Lucas' grief for Keith's death. Then, at Haley and Nathan's vow renewal, Lucas lets it slip about the kiss with Peyton, prompting he and Brooke to have a massive fight which in turn causes them to ultimately question their entire relationship. Right after, Brooke breaks up with him because she feels they don't have any real emotional connection. Lucas does a little try to get her back, but soon realizes himself that it's over between them and moves on. Meanwhile, he keeps growing closer and closer to Peyton and eventually saves her from a guy who pretends to be her brother, Derek Sommers, who attacks and nearly rapes her, then he is there and helps her to overcome the trauma for what happened. Peyton and Lucas' iconic kiss at the State Championship. ("Some You Give Away") After some time, he and Brooke go out for one last date and decide to end their romantic chapter for good since they realize they don't see their future next to each other, accepting their relationship had run its course and they're not meant to be. Then, Lucas goes to see Peyton and tells her "I realized tonight that it's over between me and Brooke… and she realized it too", to which Peyton responds finally declaring her love for him, who is left speechless because totally unprepared. After the State Championship, however, Lucas finally realizes Peyton has always been the one for him and that it is her he wants next to him when all his dreams come true, so, after Brooke tells him she is fine with them getting together as she's understood herself they are meant to be, he does his iconic "It's you" speech to her, after which they share a long-awaited kiss in the middle of the court and then officially become a couple for the first time at the after-party, but right after he has heart attack because of his disease. Fortunately surviving, he and Peyton rekindle their relationship, finally beginning a serious love story and finding themselves happier than they've ever been. Then, after having waited for so long, they make love for the first time. At the end of the season, they are still happily together and on their highest note. Peyton and Lucas are finally able to live their love story. ("Resolve") It is then revealed that while Peyton was in Los Angeles during the missing years between season 4 and season 5, about one year after graduation, Lucas came and proposed to her, but she said it was too soon, so he assumed it was over and went home. Then, he met Lindsey Strauss, his book editor, and, after having lost every hope of getting back together with Peyton, started a relationship with her about one year later. Three years after the rejected proposal, Peyton returns to Tree Hill, throwing Lucas and Lindsey's relationship into disarray because of the tons of hints that he's still in love with Peyton, such as a kiss shared between the two. After they've kissed though, Lucas proposes to Lindsey, much to Peyton's heartbreak and Lindsey's joy, but basically only because of his fear of being rejected again by Peyton. At the wedding, Peyton prepares to sit through the love of her life getting married, but fortunately Lindsey realizes Lucas' new book, The Comet, is once again about Peyton and his everlasting love for her: this discovery finally ends their relationship. On a drunken rage and having fallen in a self-destructive spiral, Lucas tells Peyton he hates her, driving her to lock herself up in her own misery. Lucas and Peyton's reunion at the airport. ("Touch Me I'm Going to Scream, Part 1") In the finale, though, he tells her he in fact obviously doesn't hate her and finally confesses how hard was for him letting her go, losing her and then seeing her again and how it's still really hard, making again apparent his love for her. In the last shot, we see Lucas phoning someone, either Peyton, Lindsey, or Brooke, and asking the receiving person to get married in Las Vegas. It is then revealed to be obviously Peyton the one he phoned and proposed to. She rushes to the airport, where they are overjoyed of reuniting for the final time, but they decide not to elope and to organize the dream wedding they deserve and then to move in together in his house. After stomach pains and a cancer scare, Peyton discovers she is pregnant with her and Lucas' baby, and shares the joyous news with him. Lucas with his wife Peyton and their daughter Sawyer. ("Remember Me as a Time of Day") Not long after, they discover if Peyton has the baby, she could die because of a disease called placenta previa, leading Lucas, in his fright of losing her, to tell her to give up the baby. She refuses, so Lucas decides to be supportive and says he'll have this baby with her. Another problem between the two occurs when Lucas finds out Peyton has been making a just-in-case death video for their unborn child, in case anything happens to her during the pregnancy. The two eventually decide to get married sooner, at the lake where the two met for the first time. After the wedding, however, he discovers Peyton lying in a pool of her blood and rushes her to hospital, where she is given immediate caesarean section and falls into a coma. Lucas is then left looking after the unnamed baby girl, breaking down and begging for Peyton to return to him. She eventually wakes up, and they name the baby Sawyer Brooke Scott, after Peyton's maiden name and best friend, Brooke Davis. A smiling Lucas also returns Peyton's car and the three drive off into the sunset to live somewhere new, finally happily ever after. Career[] Lucas' second novel "The Comet" ("You've Dug Your Own Grave, Now Lie in It") After high school, Lucas' first book, An Unkindness Of Ravens, was published. With the help of Julian Baker, Lucas wrote a screenplay version of his novel and started filming a movie. However, the film was never released. His book finally got adapted into a tv series in season 9. For a long time he struggled to write a second book, but eventually managed to write The Comet, a book that was influenced by how he met Peyton. He is currently travelling the world writing his third novel. Lucas returned to Tree Hill High where he also worked as the coach of the Ravens alongside close friend Skills. However after a phone call with Lindsey Strauss he started a fight with a player of another high school team's player, resulting in him being suspended from coaching the Ravens. He later returned but after the death of Quentin he, Skills and Nathan Scott quit. Characterization[] Lucas is a good guy and always cared about people, especially his most beloved ones, with particular regard to his family (Karen, Keith and Nathan), his closest friends, like Haley, and the love of his life, Peyton: for all of them he always put himself on the line and did whatever he could to be there and helpful. When he joined the Ravens and became popular, he never forgot who his real friends were and where he came from, never leaving anyone behind, but thanks to being part of the team he also started to come out of his shell, meeting new people and doing new experiences. He is also an introverted and very smart intellectual, passionate about art, literature and music, but he struggled to become more secure and self confident in particular due to the abandonment issues he suffered from Dan and because, before joining the Ravens, he was an outcast who was also bullied at times. Trivia[] Chad's abandonment issues in reality was the main reason for him taking on the role of Lucas Scott. Lucas' tattoo. His daughters name is Sawyer Scott, she was named after her mothers last name (Peyton Sawyer) Nathan Scott is his half-brother Murray had turned down the lead role of Ryan Atwood in The O.C. to accept the role as Lucas Scott. Initially, they also wanted him to play the role of Nathan because of his history in playing the bad guys like Charlie Todd in Dawson's Creek (where he also curiously met for the first time his co-star and now very close friend Hilarie Burton, who played his major love interest in the series, Peyton Sawyer) or Tristin Dugray in Gilmore Girls, but he specifically asked to portray Lucas precisely because he wanted to play a different type of character than the ones he had played before and also because of the already said personal connection he felt with the story of Lucas. Lucas has a tattoo of a Chinese symbol on his right arm of what he believed to be the word "fun" after getting drunk with Brooke Davis.

Although Peyton later revealed it didn't mean fun, it means to have, to exist or to be. ("With Arms Outstretched") The tattoo was to cover up Murray's tattoo of his intials - CMM. Lucas shares the same initials as his former fiance Lindsey. Lucas' goals in his yearbook was to: write the next Great American Novel, and find Bigfoot before Haley. Haley once claimed that Lucas was a fan of the movie Freaky Friday, which starred Chad Michael Murray. Lucas is the only main male character (besides Whitey) to not appear in Season 7 and Season 8. Lucas has appeared in 130 episodes. Lucas' favorite AFC football team was the Buffalo Bills, and his favorite NFC football team was the Carolina Panthers. Murray grew up in Clarence, New York, a Buffalo suburb approximately 25 miles northeast of the Bills' stadium in Orchard Park. Lucas was the first former main character to appear in the ninth and final season of OTH. Deb was the second and Keith was the third. Lucas had a pet dog named Rocket, when Haley asked him what his porn name is (Name of First Pet and Mother's maiden name) He was Rocket Roe. Writing was his second dream. He tells this to Glenda Farrell in Pictures of You during their assignment. His main dream had always been to play basketball but that wasn't an option anymore due to his heart condition. Lucas and his father Dan never reconciled before he died. His favourite colour was said to be black during the third episode of season 1. He mentioned his favourite number being 3. Gallery[] Lucas Eugene Scott is a fictional character and the main protagonist from The WB/CW television series One Tree Hill, portrayed by Chad Michael Murray. Lucas is a talented basketball player and writer. He is rival to half-brother Nathan Scott, before the two eventually become close friends. While striving for his dreams, he must balance his tumultuous relationships with his father, Dan Scott, and the two women enveloping his love life, Peyton Sawyer and Brooke Davis. The character has been described as popular among teenagers and young adults, not only for his skill at basketball but for his romantic aspirations. Specifically regarding the character's impact on female viewers, Entertainment Weekly stated that his soulful eyes contributed to the show's success. Character development[] Casting[] Chad Michael Murray was the first person to be cast for One Tree Hill. The producers were originally unsure as to who Murray would play. Series creator Mark Schwahn wanted him to play the character of Nathan Scott since Murray had played a bad guy several times before, and he felt it was only natural to give him this role. Murray, however, wanted to portray Lucas due to a connection he felt with the character. He felt that he could inhabit the character as the two share several similarities. Murray's mother left him when he was young, and Lucas was abandoned by his father. Murray's passion for the role led the producers to cast him as Lucas. Murray had turned down the lead role of Ryan Atwood in The O.C. to accept the role as Lucas Scott. Personality and wardrobe[] Schwahn said that in designing the show, he created Lucas as "this underdog kid from the wrong side of the tracks" who crosses over to the pretty and popular; he wanted to show what the life of such a person would be like in a basketball atmosphere. For Murray, in addition to their shared abandonment issues, Lucas's love for literature also appealed to him. Murray had become a fan of the genre during high school, and felt it changed his way of seeing things; it made him rethink his own actions. Lucas has been described as "caught between being charming and a nerd, a hermit and confident". Murray said of the character, "He's very introverted." He described Lucas as an observer, someone who likes to watch people and try to figure out who they really are, as opposed to who they think they are, another aspect similar to Murray's own personality. Murray never played much basketball before the show, and was more into football while in high school. Because of this, a basketball coach was hired for Murray in order to improve his basketball skills.[3] To go along with the character's personality, a "sedate" wardrobe was designed. Schwahn said of Lucas's wardrobe, "...He was a Levi's guy. He was, you know, he wore a lot of, like, plain T-shirts and things because we just wanted him to represent the everyman."[7] Despite having the character start out this way, the series eventually let his wardrobe evolve. Starting from the fourth season on, he was given some "wilder stuff". Schwahn clarified, "You know, he can [now] rock something from Sean John, which normally would have been Nathan's department." He said the style of the characters really does evolve on the show, especially with the four-year timeline jump.[7] One Tree Hill's costume designer, Carol Cutshall, stated, "Diesel is so wonderful on [Murray]. Diesel jeans. It's an Italian company. A lot of times, Italian designers cut much more slimly...for a really lean physique." For the adult Lucas, she said that "they've had nice long sleeves and nice long shirts and really slim clothing and that looks best on [Murray]. He doesn't need to be swallowed up. He's got his own style as a person. It's not just up to me. I try to bring in what I think is going to fit him best."[8] With the timeline jump, Lucas's main brands became Diesel, Guess menswear, and Juicy Couture.[8] Regarding the character's romantic life, Schwahn designed a love triangle between Lucas and the two girls, Peyton Sawyer and Brooke Davis, which created an intense fan base rivalry. While describing Lucas and Peyton as soulmates and a "meant to be" pairing,[9] he described Brooke and Lucas as "also genuine" and as having a great dynamic.[10] He acknowledged that the fan bases are large and "very passionate" about their pairings. "There is a huge fanbase dedicated to Brooke and Lucas, and sometimes [those people] feel a bit betrayed, just as the fanbase dedicated to Peyton and Lucas felt betrayed [in Season 2, and parts of Season 3]," said Schwahn. "That tells me that we've done things correctly – that's the strength of a love triangle." Storyline[] Overview[] Lucas Scott is the son of Dan Scott and Karen Roe, and the nephew of Keith Scott; he has a younger half brother, Nathan Scott, on his father's side and a younger half-sister, Lily Roe Scott, on his mother's side (she is also his cousin through Keith). He was raised by his mother after his father abandoned them to marry Deb Lee, Nathan's mother. His uncle Keith, who always had feelings for Karen, took over the father figure role. Lucas grew up in Tree Hill, a small North Carolina town along with his best friend and later sister-in-law, Haley James Scott. He shares romantic bonds with Peyton Sawyer and Brooke Davis, is interested in basketball and literature, and suffers from the genetic heart disease hypertrophic cardiomyopathy. Early seasons[edit][] At the beginning of the first season, 16-year-old Lucas Scott is recruited by coach Whitey Durham to play for the Ravens basketball team after most of the players are suspended for drunk-driving. He soon has troubles with his half-brother Nathan, who is also the Ravens captain, because Nathan wants to remain the star of the team and feels threatened by Lucas's arrival.[12] Encouraged by Dan, who also wants Lucas off the team, Nathan and his teammates make life difficult for Lucas, on one occasion kidnapping him and throwing him into a ditch. Nevertheless, Lucas is determined to stay on the team (although he removes the name "Scott" from his jersey). He is attracted to and shares a deep emotional connection with Peyton (Nathan's girlfriend). Disgusted by Nathan's behavior towards his brother, she eventually breaks up with him. Nathan retaliates by pursuing Lucas's best friend Haley, who agrees to tutor Nathan in return for him leaving Lucas alone. Lucas and Peyton fall in love, but Peyton is initially scared of a romance with Lucas (not wanting to be "serious" with him).[13][14] Lucas is devastated and starts seeing Peyton's best friend, Brooke, at the same moment Peyton realizes she has made a mistake in turning Lucas away.[14] He soon cheats on Brooke with Peyton, though sex is never involved in the betrayal. On the night that Lucas and Peyton are about to tell Brooke about their affair, Lucas and Keith are involved in a car accident, and, for the first time in the series, Dan calls Lucas his son so that Lucas can get immediate treatment.[16] Lucas wakes up from a short coma and wants to be with Peyton, but Peyton ends their affair for Brooke's sake after Brooke finds out about their tryst.[17] Lucas's feelings towards Dan are challenged when he learns that Dan wanted joint custody of Lucas, but Karen refused. He also finds himself in Dan's position when Brooke claims to be pregnant, although this turns out to be false as Brooke was lying to seek her revenge on Lucas for breaking her heart. His friendship with Peyton is broken once she learns he had a one-night stand with new resident Nicki not long after she ended their affair.[18] However, his relationship with Nathan improves as Lucas realizes that he got a better deal than Nathan, who is damaged as a result of being raised by Dan. Wanting a fresh start, Lucas decides to leave town with Keith. Lucas and Nathan have a final conversation where Nathan calls Lucas his brother and Lucas says, "I'll miss you, little brother." Before leaving with Keith, he goes to say goodbye to Haley and discovers that she and Nathan have married.[19] In Season 2, Lucas and Keith return to Tree Hill after Dan has a heart attack.[20] Lucas tries to make up for his behavior with Peyton and Brooke and becomes friends with both of them. He also starts seeing a new girl named Anna Taggaro, but they break up amicably when Anna accepts that she is a lesbian.[21][22] Lucas realizes that he has romantic feelings for Brooke and begins to focus on building on a relationship with her, even though she is seeing Anna's brother Felix.[23] Lucas discovers that he has inherited Dan's heart condition, but does not tell anyone except Dan.[24]After discovering that Keith's new girlfriend Jules was actually hired by Dan to break Keith's heart, Lucas agrees to move in with Dan if he leaves Keith alone and pays for Lucas's heart medication. This sets Lucas at odds with his mother, as she cannot believe that Lucas would want to live with Dan rather than her.[24] It also causes a new rift between Lucas and Nathan, as Nathan feels that Lucas is replacing him and is bitter about Haley's departure to go on tour singing. Lucas and Karen are reconciled when she learns half of the reason he is staying with Dan, which is to protect Keith. This plan to protect his uncle fails when Jules leaves Keith at the altar and Keith leaves town after discovering that Lucas and Karen knew that she was hired by Dan.[25] Lucas discovers Deb's painkiller addiction and decides to avenge all of Dan's victims. He finds a stash of cash and an incriminating ledger in the attic at Dan's dealership and plans to expose Dan's illegal dealings, but ultimately fails as Dan has also incriminated Deb.[25] Dan then reveals that the whole thing was a set-up to test Lucas's loyalty, which Lucas failed. As a result, he loses Dan's college fund for him (which Dan had been saving since Lucas was a baby) and even his heart medication. Nathan also ends his friendship with Lucas after discovering that Lucas had planned to bring Dan down and visited Haley behind his back in an attempt to patch up her and Nathan's marriage. Lucas does, however, kiss Brooke in the season finale and confesses that he wants to be with her, but she still leaves for California to spend the summer with her parents. Ultimately, it is just Lucas and a broken-hearted Peyton (after boyfriend Jake left her) for the summer and the last shot is of the two of them sharing a meaningful hug on the beach.[26] In Season 3, after the summer, Lucas remains at odds with Dan, who accuses Lucas of starting the fire at the dealership that nearly killed him. Dan tries to strangle Lucas on the basketball court, but Peyton, having learned the truth from Lucas, tells Dan that Lucas actually saved him from the fire. Lucas also protects the true arsonist: Deb. Lucas and Nathan continue to argue over Nathan's treatment of the returned Haley and have a public fight after Lucas accuses Nathan of being just like Dan. Lucas struggles to pay for his heart medication and steals money from his mother, which Haley sees, forcing Lucas to tell her about his condition. He begins a non-exclusive relationship with Brooke and uses Rachel Gatina to make her jealous, but a series of events leads Brooke to sleep with Chris Keller, tearing them apart.[27] Later, he forgives her after she gives him the 82 letters she wrote to him during her vacation but did not send. He and Nathan gradually become friends again. Keith returns, and he and Karen finally get together and become engaged. Keith also plans to adopt Lucas. Tragedy strikes when Lucas's former friend Jimmy Edwards brings a gun to school and fires it, accidentally hitting Peyton and causing a lockdown ("With Tired Eyes, Tired Minds, Tired Souls, We Slept"). Lucas saves Peyton and is devastated by Jimmy and Keith's eventual deaths. After seeing the effect of Keith's death on his mother, Lucas decides to finally tell Whitey, Nathan, and Karen about his heart condition and quits basketball. He goes on a university tour with his mother and realizes that he wants to become a writer. He is also Nathan's best man for his second wedding to Haley. He and Brooke break up for good during the wedding when Brooke learns that Lucas kissed Peyton back during the school shooting. In Season 4, Lucas tries to get Brooke back, but she rejects him, feeling that the passion is no longer there. One day, he hurries to save Peyton from Internet stalker "Psycho Derek", and becomes considerably closer to her afterward. He also helps Karen, who is pregnant with Keith's baby, and plans on going to the University of North Carolina when he graduates so that he can be close to home in case she needs him. Dan also helps Karen with her pregnancy, wanting to make amends for Keith's death. After talking with Dan, Karen persuades Whitey to let Lucas play 15 minutes a game, so as not to let him miss out on something he loves. Brooke and Lucas try dating each other again, but realize that it is not what they truly want and is not what is meant to be, prompting Peyton to confess her feelings for Lucas. Lucas then discovers that Nathan is planning to throw the state championship game because of his debts. Lucas plans to prevent this and deliberately fails to take his heart medication in order to play better, but Nathan is inspired by learning that he is going to have a son and they win, with Lucas making the winning shot. During the celebration, Lucas, after receiving Brooke's blessing, sees Peyton and tells her that she is the girl he has been meant for. The two then share a long-awaited kiss. They become a couple at the after-party, but their happiness is short-lived when Haley gets hit by a car and Lucas tries to tell the paramedics what happened, only to suffer a heart attack. As he is in the hospital, Lucas dreams that he is visited by Keith, who shows Lucas what life would have been like if he had been a lesser person. In the end, Lucas realizes that he has to go back to his life because he never told Peyton that he loves her. Lucas wakes up and begins a relationship with Peyton. After the failed attempt of prom in Tree Hill High, the group go on a rescue mission to save Mouth who has become stranded in Honeygrove. They all then crash the local Prom, where he and Peyton have sex with each other for the first time. He begins to investigate Keith's death, as the Keith in his dream suggested that Jimmy did not kill him, but he also starts getting closer to Dan, who tells Karen he wants a bigger part in Lucas's life. Lucas discovers the truth about Dan thanks to witness Abby Brown. He attacks Dan after walking in on him and Karen kissing and tells Karen that Dan killed Keith, but Dan convinces Karen that Lucas is delusional and needs help. Lucas then steals Deb's gun and confronts Dan in front of Karen, having set him up by sending him a message from "Abby". Karen collapses and Lucas fires a warning shot at Dan, telling him not to touch her. Karen is rushed to hospital with eclampsiaand has an emergency c-section. Lucas is given a half-sister, who is named Lily Roe Scott when Karen regains consciousness. Later, Dan turns himself in for Keith's murder. Lucas graduates and gets, as a reward, his book (An Unkindness of Ravens) from his mother. That same day, he becomes an uncle with the birth of Nathan and Haley's son, James Lucas Scott, partly named after him. Lucas is named the godfather of James and announces that he will be assisting Whitey as Nathan's college basketball coach. Missing years[edit][] One year from Season 4, Lucas becomes the head coach of the Cobras, his college basketball team, and leads them to victory in the championships. Thinking about his future, he goes to see Peyton and asks her to marry him. She declines, feeling that it is too soon. As he is about to leave LA, his novel is picked up by a fresh new editor, Lindsey Strauss. It is a moment when his greatest dream came true. He is about to call Peyton, but decides against it, and instead calls Brooke. They spend a crazy evening together, and, in the end, he kisses her because he feels lonely. Although Brooke still loves him at the time, she pushes him away, remembering Peyton. Soon after, he is scheduled to have a book signing in LA where Peyton is living and working. Having missed her, he calls her and invites her to come to the signing. Peyton comes, but witnesses Lindsey giving Lucas a congratulatory kiss and, assuming they are in a relationship, leaves, thinking there is no hope for her and Lucas. Lucas thinks that Peyton did not bother to come, and consequently begins dating Lindsey.[28] Final seasons[edit][] In Season 5, four years after high school graduation, Lucas, now 22, suffers from writer's block and is under pressure from his editor/girlfriend Lindsey. He also tries to help Haley with her son, James Lucas Scott.[28] When Peyton comes back home, she reveals to him that she did come to the signing, and then inspires him by repeating his quote: "Your art matters".[29] When he tells Peyton that the bartender she is flirting with at the Clothes Over Bros store opening is not good enough for her, it becomes obvious that, despite his relationship with Lindsey, he still loves Peyton.[30] After remembering the night he proposed, he goes straight to her house, though she is not there.[31] When Peyton begins to antagonize Lindsey, he goes to confront her, but things escalate into a verbal fight about their break up.[32] A little bit later, after Peyton confesses her feelings and kisses him, he kisses her back, passionately, but later proposes to Lindsey,[33] leading Peyton to tell him that she will bury her feelings so that he can be happy.[34] He then wins his first game as the Ravens coach, although the female counterparts miss it because they were locked in the library.[35] He soon has to go to Dan's parole and speak up in order to have him stay locked up. He decides to have Nathan as his best man and then fuses his bachelor party with Lindsey's.[36]He also gives Haley his new book, and she tells him not to marry Lindsey after reading it.[37] Lucas proceeds with the wedding, but Lindsey stops him after realizing his book is about Peyton. She leaves him, and when he chases after her, he sees Lindsey's bags packed. After a confrontation, she leaves him, saying, "People always leave, Luke. You know that." (A reference to one of Peyton's famous lines, also featured in his first book.)[38] Lucas flees to stay with his mother and Andy after the failed wedding. Andy convinces Lucas to go after Lindsey, prompting him to go to her and tell her that one day she will come back to him.[39] She comes back to Tree Hill for Jamie's 5th birthday, but tells Lucas that it was really over.[40] Lucas and Nathan appear in the Valentine Hope crossover where he and Nathan are attacked by Dennison brothers Isaac Eric and Chad. He then helps Brooke cope with having baby Angie around. After Lindsey calls him to tell him she is seeing someone, he blows up after an opposing player gets away with attempting to injure Quentin Fields, drawing himself a 10-game suspension.[41][42] He becomes heavily drunk and tells Peyton he hates her when she comes to his aid.[43] He later apologizes to her after being confronted by Haley. He tells her that it was hard to let her go, hard to see her and that it remains difficult for him, making apparent his love for Peyton. Lindsey comes by to tell him his book is over and he can e-mail her the dedication. When he does, she reveals by phone that she still loves him. He then decides to go to Las Vegas and calls someone to get married. Brooke, Peyton, and Lindsey are all shown answering the phone, and the viewers are left hanging as to whom he decides to propose to.[44] In the first episode of the sixth season, the audience discovers that Peyton was on the receiving end of Lucas's phone call. He waits to see if she actually arrives, and moments later, he finds her through the crowd, making her way toward him with bags packed. They share passionate kisses, Peyton glowing with happiness, and then board the plane on their way to Las Vegas. When they get there, they spend the night in a kinky Vegas hotel room. The next day, they go to the wedding chapel, but the tackiness of the place convinces them that this was the wrong decision. Instead, Peyton takes Lucas to the hotel room where he first proposed to her and they do it all over again, but this time Peyton says "yes" before he has even asked the question. With the upcoming release of his new book, Lucas travels to New York to meet with Lindsey, and eventually tells her about his engagement to Peyton. He soon starts his book tour, but it fails fast and is canceled, so he returns home to Peyton. After the two resolve problems and fears of moving in together, Lucas is offered a movie deal by Julian Baker. Julian asks Lucas questions about Peyton before she gets there, and after she runs into Julian near the bathroom, it is revealed that he is her ex-boyfriend.[45] For three weeks, Peyton fails to tell Lucas about Julian, and Lucas is angry when he discovers their past on his own.[46] Although he is initially angry, they patch things up, and Peyton convinces Lucas to continue taking a part in the making of the film, despite his reluctance to work with Julian. The film is to be shot in Tree Hill, North Carolina. He also learns Peyton is expecting their first child. Though they initially have problems with Peyton's pregnancy, the fact that she may die if the baby is born,[47] the two are eventually married by the lake where they first met, and have their reception at Tric. They soon have a healthy daughter, Sawyer Brooke Scott, which Peyton names after her best friend Brooke (similar to the naming of James Lucas Scott), and the two ride off into the sunset. For Season 7, Mark Schwahn, the series' creator, said Lucas and Peyton are traveling the world; they are spending time with Karen and her husband Andy, and Lucas is writing a new book.[48] In the season opener, Jamie celebrates his seventh birthday, his second without his uncle. Lucas sends Jamie the basketball which was given to him by Keith on Lucas's seventh birthday. In the card, Lucas says he and Peyton miss Jamie every day.[49] In the later half of the season, Jamie asks Nathan about his relationship with Lucas. Nathan tells him that although they were not close when they were younger they became more like real brothers as they got older. He said, "Having a brother is a lot like having a best friend, he helped make me the man I am today."[50] On August 30, 2011, it was confirmed that Chad Michael Murray would be returning to the series' final season as Lucas. He returns to Tree Hill as Haley reaches out to him for help regarding Nathan's disappearance.[51][52] Lucas returned to Tree Hill during season nine, per the request of Haley. She asks him to take the kids out of town to live with him and Peyton until she can find Nathan and bring him home. However, he still holds resentment towards Dan and refuses to show up at the hospital after Dan is shot by one of Nathan's kidnappers during the rescue attempt.
